

July 26, 1985

TO: File

FROM: Susan C. Linner, <sup>SL</sup> Permit Supervisor/Reclamation
Biologist

RE: Dav-Tex Corporation, Poor Boy Claims, DOE/019/024, Grand County, Utah

On June 24, 1985, this site was inspected by Division personnel Rick Summers, Dave Cline, Randy Harden and Susan Linner.

Since this site was taken over by Dav-Tex from Bob Barnes last winter, quite a bit of regrading and shaping has been done. The area looked very good for the most part and considerably better than before.

The only disturbances left consisted of a small pile of gravel and some debris (machinery parts, drums, etc.) at the site where Mr. Barnes was working previously and two large rock piles and some associated cuts at the very eastern end of the property. Some of the regrading work appeared quite recent and it may be that we arrived before all the planned reclamation work was finished.

There was also a small highwall left at the southeast edge of the disturbance, and the dam in the drainage just to the east of the property was still in place. Total disturbance left was approximately two to three acres.

btb
0020R-20

